

Painting and Decorating apprentices

Are you a level 1 or 2 P&D student who hasn't got an employer?

If you are trying to build up your portfolio of onsite experience wherever and however you can,
off your own back -

enter a blogging competition to win an Erecta Rack

This is literally a helping hand for a winning young decorator going places.

Erecta Rack is widely used in USA for site work and kitchens but is almost unheard of in UK.

Traditional Painter and MyPaintBrush think you will do well to own one.

(It is worth £299 and will raise your bar as a painter and decorator)

This is strictly for Level 1 and 2 P&D students who haven't got an employer

Submit 3 articles:

Decorating jobs I have done.

Email 3 articles, each 400 words and 2 photos minimum

Tell us what you learnt, what you won't do again, products that helped, or hindered...

The apprentice sending us the most informative set of articles

wins

a

£299 Erecta Rack

Send entries to competition@traditionalpainter.com

This is strictly for Level 1 and 2 P&D students who haven't got an employer

Deadline for submission is midnight October 30th 2013

Winner will be announced on Sunday November 10th published in the Traditional Painter newsletter & across the internet

Traditional Painter will publish as many submissions as we can, in tandem with other sites and organisations willing to promote talented and determined young decorators.
